

CONGRESS WILL SEE FIGHT TO REDUCE TAXES

Program Being Outlined to Scale Down Burden for Poor Man

EXEMPTIONS ARE HIT

Battle Between Progress-
sive and Conservative
Element Impends

Washington, July 18.—New legislation with a new revenue table, scaling down the tax burden for those of moderate incomes, was the program being outlined today by the progressive group in Congress.

Administration leaders now in Washington regarded as certain a determined fight by this congressional element to drive taxes down. It will be a battle between the progressives and conservatives almost from the top of the bill in the Congress convening next December to shift the major part of the tax liability now assessed against American taxpayers, from the poor to the rich by readjustments, relieving the rich of some of the so-called exemptions.

The fight for tax reduction or rather revision along more liberal lines to satisfy that large body of the population, who are convinced that the tax yoke they carry is an unequal one, has now been given impetus by the election of Magnus Johnson as Senator from Minnesota. No other event in recent months has had such vital bearings upon the entire revenue question. Johnson will enter the Senate and bolster up the already formidable group headed by Senator LaFollette. The Republican majority in the Senate has been sharply reduced, if account is taken of the strength which can be wielded by combinations between the progres-

YEGGS WHO ROBBED BRYANT COMPANY ELUDE OFFICERS

Complete check of the loss sustained by the Bryant Auto Sales Company, Ford agents, when yeggs blew the safe early Sunday morning, raised the cash loss from $500 to $700 according to E. R. Bryant, proprietor.

Invoice of the loss sustained was completed, Tuesday evening, after a careful check of receipts. Checks reported missing were found during the investigation. With an envelope containing $20 in cash and an other containing a smaller amount,
the checks were pushed under a radiator in the office. They were found Tuesday.

Mortgages contained among papers
in the safe were also found to be undisturbed. A number of notes and securities, however, were represented in the loot taken by the cracksmen.
The yeggs blew the safe about one o'clock Sunday morning, using one blast to open each of two doors.

The robbery was not discovered until about eight o'clock Sunday morning.

The robbery is the third in which safes have been blown in the county in the last few weeks. Authorities are baffled in the attempt to trace yeggs responsible for any of the robberies. Efforts of police to find a tangible clue to the latest safe robbing have so far been fruitless.

LIVING COSTS KEEP DOWN MARRIAGE

Cedar Point, O., July 18.—"The
high cost of living" is keeping down
the marriage rate in Ohio, according
to E. R. Abrams, Cleveland, secretary of the Ohio Retail Jewelers' Association which opened its annual convention here.

Advocating removal of unjust and unnecessary taxes on jewelry, Abrams said: "Many a young couple, I've been told, won't get married for no other reason than that engagement rings, wedding rings and other essential nuptial jewelry is too high and its price is kept up by the unnecessary tax."

Senators and Representatives have been appealed to in a nation-wide

FEDERAL COURT READY FOR FIGHT WITH BIG HARVESTER COMPANY

Washington, July 18.—The Federal Court squared away today for another legal battle with the International Harvester Company. Five years ago the court held that the corporation was a combination in restraint of trade and ordered it dissolved.

Attorney General Daugherty believes, however, that this dissolution has not been accomplished ac-

REPORT WILSON BUYS VIRGINIAN MANSION

Whether ex-President Woodrow Wilson, who now lives in Washington, has bought this old Virginia homestead, located near Fairfax, Va., his native State, remains a mystery. The mansion, about 10 miles from Washington, has been the property of A. C. Edmondson, and neither he nor Mr. Wilson will confirm the report, which grows daily.

The house and 25 acres of land are valued at $125,000.

Ex-Soldiers Renew Old Acquaintances Wednesday

Lads, who "hated to get up in the morning," to the strains of a leather-lugged bugler's reveille a few years ago, were up and about early Wednesday in preparation for the first annual reunion of Company F, 330th
Infantry, 83rd Division, at the Greene County Fair grounds.

In "civvies," uniforms and remnants of uniforms, they began arriving at the appointed place early for their first conclave, which began at nine o'clock. Although the distance represented only a short war-time hike, few reported to the army means of transportation to reach the fair grounds. Uniforms were not prescribed, but many donned them selves in their "olive drabs," hobnailed trench shoes, overseas caps
and other paraphernalia.

Former F Company members, mostly
from Greene, Fayette and Clinton Counties, answered "assembly" at nine o'clock. Renewal of friendships marked the first get-together and the ex-doughboys fought all over again camp life during the "big snore" at Camp Sherman and the "bottle of the cotties" at the billet at Le Mans, France.

These soldiers represented the first to leave this section for Camp Sherman. Greene County members of the unit were in initial increments for whom bands played, crowds cheered and friends cried about six years ago.

They received their military training in the first batch trained at Chillicothe, going through the rigors of one of the hardest winters in years in order to imbibe the fundamentals of modern warfare.

HAM LOWER BUT NOT IN GREAT DEMAND SAYS MEAT PACKER

Chicago, July 18.—Ham and eggs, which, with the succulent pie, have been the premier blue birds of American grub aristocracy ever since Columbus and his intrepid yachtsmen ferried over, were threatened today with permanent loss of their social niche.

Either the hungry husband and the little woman are breakfasting more and more on sawdust cereals or else they're not breakfasting much at all.
At least such was the impression created by the announcement here of Thomas E. Wilson, president of the packing company which bears his name, that despite wholesale ham prices being 25 to 33 per cent lower than a year ago, no one is in the slightest degree excited about it. Ham is being consumed in liberal quantities the packer said but there was the inference that the hog, like the old gray mare, isn't what he used to be.

Although other pork products are
at pre-war levels the public is not taking advantage of it in a way to make this packing town pat itself on the paunch and beam: "Looks like a big
year."

Unless the public does, why then like the dolphins of France, the tribunes of the Tiber and the Grand-dees of Castile, another and even greater noble-ham-and-eggs-country—will be no more.

FAKE TELEPHONE CALL SENT WOMAN

Cincinnati, July 18.—Answering a mysterious telephone call yesterday,
Mrs. Bernard S. Wendall, 127 West
Daniels Street, was informed that her husband had been injured in an auto wreck and was at General Hospital.
Mrs. Wendall hurried to the hospital, only to find that her husband was not there.

On June 22, Mrs. Anna Marie Redinger, 38, received a similar telephone call and hurried to a hospital, since which time no trace of her has been found.

OVER 50 PER CENT GRANTED PAROLES

Columbus, July 18.—Parole from Ohio penal institutions was granted to 54 per cent of all the applicants last year, according to the final report of the state board of pardons and parole.
Paroles from the penitentiary were granted to 1,008, from the women's reformatory, Marysville 176, and from Mansfield reformatory 1185.

SUSPECT HELD.

Toledo, July 18.—James S. Richards
of New York city is held by police here, following his attempt to pass a check for $9,875 in the Northern National bank. Two well-dressed young men and two girls, believed to have been accomplices, are being sought by police. They were seen to leave buriedly when Richards was captured.

SPREAD DRAGNET FOR KILLER: SAY MAN IS INSANE

Murder Takes Place On Chicago Street Corner;

CRIME IN NEW YORK

Wave of Outlawry Sweeps
Kept On Jump

Chicago, July 18.—Backed by orders to "shoot to kill on sight," police today were drawing in a dragnet in which they hope to snare Antonio Gilberto, believed to be a man man, killer of Colangelo Salerno and who probably fatally wounded Charles Goetz, private secretary to the president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and
St. Paul railroad.

Gilberto fired six bullets into the body of Salerno on a crowded street corner, killing him instantly. The slayer then leaped into the nearest automobile with Goetz at the wheel.
When Goetz, forced to drive at the pistol point, slowed up to avoid a collision, Gilberto shot him twice. Hospital physicians say he probably will die.

The shooting of Salerno, police say,
followed violent quarreling between Salerno and Gilberto over the charge that Mrs. Salerno had left her husband for Gilberto.

Convinced the slayer is insane,
police have issued orders to kill him on sight if he makes the least resistance.

New York, July 18.—Gunmen, high-waymen and lesser brands of trouble-makers combined yesterday to keep the police on the jump.

Entries on the police headquarters blotter included:

Three shooting affrays, as a result of which two men are expected to die.

Holdup and theft by bandits disguised as policemen and detectives
of a truck carrying $60,000 worth of silk.

Belated announcement of a $75,000
silk truck robbery that occurred Saturday.

Assault and robbery of two pedestrians.

Attack by a crazed negro on a sub-
way passenger, which sent scores rushing for safety.

The most spectacular of the shooting affrays was a pistol duel in Second Ave. between Frank Rogers and Patrick Cotter, over an alleged insult alleged to have been offered Mrs.

ENTIRE PHILIPPINE CABINET RESIGNS- WOOD UNDER FIRE

Manila, July 18.—Characterizing their resignation as "a challenge and
a threat" which he could not ignore, Governor General Leonard Wood accepted the proffered resignations of the entire Philippine cabinet at a dramatic conference in the governor general's offices.

Manuel Quezon, Filipino political
leader and president of the senate,
read the resignation of the cabinet,
which charged Governor Wood with undue interference with cabinet affairs. General Wood, in dramatic fashion, then accepted the resignations. One member of the cabinet, Jose Laurel, secretary of the interior,
burst into tears. The others showed their surprise and Quezon paled visibly.

The letter of resignation said in part: "We have observed for some time past that it is your policy and desire as governor general to intervene in and control, even to the smallest details, affairs of our government, both insular and local, in utter disregard of the authority and responsibility of the department and other officials concerned."

General Wood said: "You have
made no effort whatever to adjust the alleged disagreements. Your plans have been deliberately made and your action is in the character of a challenge and a threat, which I can not ignore. I regret exceedingly this occurrence. Under the circumstances, there is no alternative left for me but
to accept, as I now do, your resigna-

MAUGHAN DELAYS PROPOSED TRIP

Garden City, L. I., July 18.—With his airplane under repair at the Curtiss plant here, Lieutenant Russell Maughan, army aviator, today again postponed his contemplated coast-to-coast flight between daylight and dark.

A leak which developed in the gas line of the plane will require 3 complete returnings of the powerful Curtiss motor used in the ship and may result in another week's delay before Maughan hops off.

Political Leaders Express Opinions on Election

Republican and Democratic Leaders Give Views of Minnesota Result

Washington, July 18.—The victory
of Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor candidate, over Governor Preus, Republican, in the contest for Minnesota's vacant seat in the United States senate is conclusive evidence that the state is dissatisfied with the policies of the administration, in the view of political observers here.

The fact that the Democratic candidate for the vacancy polled less than five per cent of the total vote cast is accepted as revealing a surprising unwillingness on the part of the voters to rely on either of the two major political parties for relief.

Republicans point to the fact that the Democrat received such an insignificant vote and Democrats emphasize the assertion that Johnson's victory is the "most significant and humiliating defeat and repudiation the Harding administration has yet suffered since the nation-wide repudiation in 1922."

Leaders in both parties, however,
are reluctant to recognize the result
as manifesting a distrust of Republicans and Democrats alike and a demand for "a new deal" in the hope that the people will benefit thereby.

The election of Senator Johnson will give the LaFollette group the balance of power in the senate.

The view of the result entertained
by some Republican leaders was well expressed in this comment by Secretary of War Weeks: "If Min-nesotans want that kind of man for

Chairman Adams of the Republican National committee, said: "Certainly the Democratic party can not get much comfort out of this result. On the face of the returns, it appears that the farmer-labor candidate endorsed by several other organizations, including the communists, received the bulk of the Democratic vote. Conservative Democratic leaders in Minnesota supported Preus. As the situation stands today, the Republican party is the only organized influence around which the constructive, progressive forces of the country can rally. In Minnesota the Democratic organization has been completely wiped out by the third parties of radical tendencies."

William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet and aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination said: "Johnson's victory is a reflection of the contempt and disgust which the people regard
the Harding administration."

Chairman Hull of the Democratic national committee issued a long
statement emphasizing the result "as the first reaction of the voters at the polls to President Harding's transcontinent political tour with its boasts of prosperity, its characteristic excesses and reversals and facing both ways."

St. Paul, July 18.—Magnus Johnson, the Meeker county dirt farmer and Farmer-Labor candidate for United States senator, has rolled up a plurality over Governor Preus, Republican, of between 75,000 and 100,000. Indications are that he may have a clear plurality over both Preus and Senator Carley, the Democratic candidate, of upwards of 60,000.

Johnson's program for the next senate, with a declaration of opposition to the world court and the league of nations, was announced by him as follows:

Repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law; revision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff; government grain purchase and storage to assure the farmers "a living wage"; nationalization of water power resources and immediate development; complete revision of the federal reserve banking institution to divorce it from Wall street and make it serve the people;
constitutional amendment to prevent the supreme court from declaring acts of congress unconstitutional by a majority vote of the court; soldiers' bonus to be paid out of excess profits and not by sales tax; restriction of injunction in industrial pursuits;
more stringent regulation of the packing industry; complete equality of men and women, politically and in-

JOHNSON PLURALITY IN MINNESOTA IS OVER 75 THOUSAND

Columbus, July 18.—A high death rate exists among school children because of failure to give the students proper physical inspections, according to a Chamber of Commerce report to the Board of Education, widely discussed here today.

Physical instruction is given to
great a prominence over inspection it was declared. The Chamber of Commerce feels that many school failures are due to prevalence of disease and physical imperfections which could be eradicated by proper supervision.

Cadiz, O., July 18.—A half pint of liquor at least twenty years old was found by workmen today when they tore up the floor of the Methodist Episcopal Church here.

Workmen asserted that the liquor
was the finest of pre-prohibition stuff, mellow with age and probably worth a sufficient sum to pay for repairs
on the church.

Just what disposition to make of the liquor is a puzzle to the board of deacons of the church.

Columbus, July 18.—Efforts are again being made to organize state employees. P. F. Duffy, representative of the American Federation of Labor, is in charge of the move, which is designed to embrace both civil service and non-civil service employees. He is working in co-operation with John
E. Sullivan, president of the Columbus Federation of Labor. Employees of the state industrial commission were organized some time ago.

OWN THROAT.

Warren, O., July 18.—Nick Dabich, 45, farmer, and his wife, Bessie, 38,
of Southington, parents of 11 children,
are in Warren hospital in a critical condition and may die as the outcome of a quarrel. Dabich cut his own throat after bringing his wife, whom he had accidentally shot, to the hospital here. His windpipe was severed.
The woman was shot in the foot,
which was amputated, and her condition is serious.

RUSSIAN WOMAN JUDGE IS FEARED

Judge Anna Gluzman

Ann Gluzman, Judge of the highest Russian Soviet Court, sitting in Moscow, is the most feared official in Soviet Russia. She has sentenced more than 50 persons to death, calmly and quietly. The severity of her prison sentences against both men and women, is notorious.

ENGLAND MAKING REPRESENTATIONS TO MOVE FRANCE

London, July 18.—Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, has been communicating the contents of the British reparations note to the German ambassador, Herr St. Hamer, when they confer this evening.

A cabinet meeting was to have been held this afternoon to consider the reparations issue, but it was postponed until tomorrow. The postponement gave rise to belief that new representations were being made to France by England.

The British note has been completed it is comparatively short, outlining the British proposals with the utmost brevity. It proposes an international commission to fix the sum of German indemnity but proposes additional safeguards for France to guarantee German payments.

It is understood Belgium is bringing additional pressure upon France in an effort to weaken the stern program of the Paris government.

PHYSICAL EXAMS ARE SAID NEEDED

HARDING BOARDS SHIP TO RETURN TO THE STATES

President Reaches Seward
and Goes On Board Henderson for Home

STOPS WILL BE MADE

Presidential Party Disappointed With Result of Senate Election

Seward, Alaska, July 18.—President Harding and party reached this city from Fairbanks and went aboard the Henderson for the return trip to the states.

On the way down stops will be made at Valdez and Sitka.

Secretaries Work and Hoover left
the train at Anchorage to hear complaints of the Alaskans on various
matters in connection with inland fisheries. It is expected the Henderson will get under way for Seattle late tonight or Thursday morning, depending on the length of time required for these hearings.

Mrs. Harding spent a comfortable night on the train. She did not appear for breakfast when the party alighted from the train at Curry, but it was explained she was merely resting and would breakfast later in the private car assigned to the president.

President Harding was greatly disappointed with the result of the senatorial election in Minnesota. While generally conceding Preus had a hard fight before him, the president and cabinet members accompanying him
were not prepared for the defeat of the Republican candidate in such an amazing fashion as that administered by Johnson.

The president declined to comment on the election. It is understood, however, that the president feels that the Minnesota situation was badly handled and that Governor Preus made
a grave mistake in calling a special election, instead of exercising his right to appoint Senator Nelson's successor in 1924. By calling the special election Preus gave his enemies in the Farmer-Labor camp a golden opportunity to duplicate their achievement of two years ago, when they elected Shipstead over Kellogg.

The president's farewell to the interior of Alaska was said at Fairbanks. It has been a wonderful trip and the president has been greatly impressed with what the homesteaders are doing in carving out this great agricultural empire in a region where

LIQUOR PROBLEM UP TO CONGRESS

Washington, July 18.—Administration officials admitted today that they have virtually given up all hope of solving the ship liquor and rum running problems, by means of extension of the American right of search and seizure-out to 12 miles at sea.

More than three weeks have passed since the proposal originally was made to the allied capitals by Secretary of State Hughes but as yet no replies have been received.

Led by Great Britain in the great maritime powers are said to be
"manifestly unfavorable" to any extension of the three-mile limit, regardless of the reasons therefor.
Cognizant of this attitude, officials concede that with Congress alone
rests the solution of the problem.

LET CONTRACT FOR PRINTING POLL BOOKS

Contracts for the printing of 5, 000 ballots and 14 sets of poll books for the primary election in August, were let Tuesday afternoon by the Greene County Board of Elections.

Johnson and Watson, Dayton,
were given the contract for printing
the poll books, on their low bid.
The Columbus Blank Book Company
was the other bidder for the books.

The Ekerle Printing Company, Xenia, was awarded the contract for the ballots. The Aldice Publishing House, Xenia, was the other bidder for the ballots. The contracts were let to the low bidder in each case, members of the election board say.

Cincinnati, O., July 18.—While her husband and children slept, Mrs.
Anna Mulholland, 42, was bound and gagged and robbed of $18 by two Negroes, in her home. Mrs. Mulholland was at work in the kitchen when the Negroes entered and demanded her money. She hurled an iron at them but missed.

FATAL FALL.

Lancaster, O., July 18.—William F.
Bininger, 30, groceryman, died here as the result of internal injuries received in a fall from a cherry tree four weeks ago. Two operations failed to save his life.

TIGER FLOWERS TO MEET TUT JACKSON AT SPRINGFIELD

"Tiger" Flowers, the sensational Atlanta heavyweight and "Tut" Jackson, the Washington C. H. heavy, are expected to furnish one of the most interesting box cards ever arranged in Springfield when they meet in the ring at Memorial Hall Wednesday night.

The bout will go 12 rounds to a decision, and Referee Johnny Carroll will be in charge. Memphis and New Orleans both bid for this attraction before Ray Bronson, Springfield promoter, outbid them and landed the bout.

When Flowers and Jackson battled July 3 at Atlanta the decision was a draw. Newspapermen however, have the "Tiger" the edge in every round. Jackson outweighed Flowers 15 pounds and it was agreed that if both men were on their feet at the end of the final round, a draw decision would be given.

In the eighth round Jackson floored Tiger, with a tap on the jaw.

Edith Kelly Gould Returns To Stage.

Edith Kelly Gould, divorced wife of Frank J. Gould, son of the late Jay Gould, will return shortly to the stage in Paris. The former dance hall star will appear in vaudeville on a twelve weeks' contract. Presumably she is tiding over her financial affairs while her suit for half of her husband's estate is pending.

Flowers taking seven before he pulled himself together. When he came up, however, he jabbed and hooked Jackson into the defensive. Wednesday night's fight is expected to draw the largest crowd that ever witnessed a set-to with the gloves in Springfield. Three other high-class bouts round out the program. Popular prices will prevail.

McDONNELL JOINS RESERVE STAFF OF HURLERS SUNDAY

The Xenia Reserves will tangle with the Interstate baseball nine of Middletown Sunday afternoon at Reserve Park, Cincinnati avenue.

The locals have been going good here lately and have won their last two games by large scores which proves they have a real offense.

Manager Jesse Chambliss has added Willie McDonnell to the pitching staff and with Ciphers and McDonnell the Reserves will have capable hurlers. McDonnell used to do mound duty for the Bayliffs but quit that club recently and was signed by the Cincinnati avenue bunch.

He is a capable tosser and will give the best of them a good run for their money. Chambliss is booking stronger teams every week and is promising more good attractions.

Ackerman played his first game for the Reserves last Sunday and he showed up well. He fielded in great fashion and came through with a three base hit.

The Middletown bunch has a classy outfit and one that will make the locals step in order to finish on top. To date they have dropped but two games and both of these were by close scores.

The Reserves will have their regular lineup and the game will get away at 2:30 o'clock with Rachford in charge.

The other qualifying players to complete Thursday are: Delmer Hook, Russell Barr, Robert Buckles, Howell Davidson, John Hickman, Dwight Bennington, Edwin Bostwick, Fred Smith and James Swindler.

LEONARD FULL OF CONFIDENCE ON EVE OF TENDLER BOUT

Tannersville, N. Y., July 18.—For a champion who is about to defend his title against admittedly the most dangerous contender in a year, that has seen the eclipse of a number of other champions, Benny Leonard today is unusually carefree and exuberant.

To say he is confident of the outcome of his bout with Lew Tendler at the Yankee stadium in New York next Monday would be superfluous. As well one might say the Woolworth building is tall, or some equally obvious fact.

"Of course I will win," Leonard said, and then explained his showing in his bout with Tendler a year ago. "You know southpaws are very peculiar. For instance, if you write with your right hand all your life, it is hard and takes time before you can accustom yourself to write with your left. I've been fighting right handed all my life and the first time I fought Tendler I was a bit confused and puzzled."

"But I have had a year's time to scheme out the tactics of a southpaw. I know how they fight and I know how Tendler fights. Tendler is a good strong fellow. He is no easy man to beat and will take plenty of punishment. But still I will beat him." Leonard's confidence was based on a knowledge of his opponents ability and his own physical condition. The champion appeared trim and fit.

PLENTY OF ACTION EXPECTED AS WHITE AND MITCHELL MEET

New York, July 18.—Fistic lovers expect to see plenty of action tonight when Charley White, the Chicago lightweight and Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee boxer, clash in a scheduled 15 round bout. The winner will be next in line to battle for the lightweight crown.

In their last fight, White, almost out on his feet, let go with a terrific left hook and knocked out Ritchie.

White said today he would win in five rounds.

WOMAN CUE EXPERT TO SHOW ABILITY AT G. CURTIS HALL

"Learn to play pool and billiards and keep your hubby at home", is the advice meted out to married women here by Miss Frances Anderson, of Richmond, Va., said to be the women's champion pocket billiard player of the world.

Miss Anderson will be at the Gust Curtis billiard hall, North Detroit St., Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock to give an exhibition of her prowess in taming the ivory with a cue. She will furnish an exhibition of fancy shots and then will take on some local pocket billiard artist for a series of games. Admission to the exhibition is free.

"There's no reason why pool and billiards should be an exclusively man's game," says Miss Anderson. "Men like to play and if their wives took an interest in the game as many of them do in golfing with their husbands, friend hubby would be more apt to stay at home nights and have his little pool game in his own home."

"Billiards should appeal to a woman as much as tennis or golf. It is certainly a graceful game and requires judgement and good nerves rather than strength and speed. I don't know a better way of keeping the husband at home than by learning to beat him at billiards. Of course some men would be afraid to put a cue in their wives' hands but they are few."

Miss Anderson has traveled all over the United States and has had consistent success in defeating men amateurs in the cities she has visited.

CAMP FOR BOYS TO BE LAUNCHED

There will be a camp for boys established during August, according to A. J. Black, teacher at McKinley Junior High School, who is making plans for the outing.

Attempts to establish a camp for boys by the Kiwanis Club failed recently because of apparent lack of interest among youths of the city.

Mr. Black, however, believes that there are a number of boys who are anxious to take a camping trip but who neglected to take advantage of the original camp. He believes they will fall in line with the camp he proposes.

No location for the camp has been announced. The outing will be held in August, however, in plenty of time to permit the boys to be back home to prepare for the opening of school in September. Boys who wish to get information on the camp should see or call Mr. Black. He lives at 615 North Galloway street.

PLAY COMMENDABLY PRESENTED TUESDAY AT CHAUTAUQUA

Humor and pathos interwoven in the plot and admirably interpreted by Kellogg's Broadway Players, combined to furnish a wholesome bit of stage entertainment in the presentation of "Turn to the Right" at the Chautauqua Tent Tuesday evening.

Characters selected to present the offering were well drawn and despite the handicap of limited stage settings and space, commendably, portrayed the heart throbs of a widowed mother and her faith in her son, who had mysteriously disappeared.

The famous play woven around the plot of a youth who had been erroneously sent to prison; his subsequent release and determination to go straight; the impoverished mother and sister on the home farm, fighting a hopeless battle to make ends meet; the return of the prodigal in time to save, through the assistance of two of his pals in prison, his mother's farm from the machinations of the village Shylock, was dramatically and humorously unfolded under the handling of the players.

Raymond Rawlings in the role of Joe Bascom, the lost son, played the leading part in expert fashion. Mrs. Frank I. Frayne handled the difficult role of the sweet, unselfish mother, whose faith and determination reclaimed three lives, brought a tear to many eyes in her rendition of the part. Alton Lee, as Deacon Tillingier interpreted a difficult part in a commendable manner.

"Mugs" and "Gilly" the two ex-convicts drew laughter by their skillful handling of ludicrous situations. Sam Martin, ambitious grocery clerk who through his initiative enables the owners of the fruit farm to market a crop of peaches regarded as a drug on the market, was favorably received. Betty Bascom, Jessie Strong, her friend, and Elsie Tillingier, daughter of the Deacon and the boyhood sweetheart of Joe, contributed in no small measure to the successful presentation of the play.

A good sized audience witnessed the offering. W. P. Allen, manager of the Chautauqua announced prior to the performance that the local committee had done considerably "over the top" in the financing of the institution here this year.

Another headline attraction of Tuesday's program was the lecture in the afternoon on "Home—The Heart of Life," by William Darius Campbell. The lecturer, an expert on interior decoration presented in addition to his talk a demonstration of how to do and how not to do, in decorating and arranging interiors.

Wednesday's program opened in the morning with a lecture "Purified Politics," by Ben A. Arneson, head of the Ohio Wesleyan University. The Zellerbach Symphony Quintet will feature the afternoon and evening performances. Hubert W. Hurt will lecture on "The New Industrial Day," Wednesday evening.

HAGAR COMPANY IS FINED WEDNESDAY—TO USE SAFEGUARD

The Hagar Straw Board and Paper Company, of Cedarville, was fined $500 and costs by Magistrate L. H. Whiteman Wednesday morning on a specific charge of killing one fish in Massies Creek.

The affidavit was sworn to by Karl L. Keller, Xenia, Greene County Game Protector, alleging the company responsible for permitting the poisonous waste matter from its mill to enter the stream, resulting in the death of many fish. Only one charge was preferred and others will pend.

Wilson W. Galloway, general manager of the company entered a formal plea of guilty to the charge Wednesday morning. He asked the court for reasonable time in which to make certain changes in the purification system now being used, according to specifications outlined and suggested by J. T. Travers, Columbus, state supervisor of streams, who was present at the hearing. Such an installation will eliminate trouble in the future, it is said.

"Mr. Galloway deplors the situation that resulted in the death of the fish as much as the state or the citizens," said Mr. Travers. "The company is not altogether to blame for the results as they were caused by an employee, who did not realize the dangerous character of the water he released."

In handing down a decision, the court held the waterways are to natural channels of industries to carry away waste matter in a fluid state. According to Mr. Travers, the Cedarville company has hundreds of competitors over the state dumping waste matter into the streams of Ohio and making no effort to render it harmless. The Cedarville company, he said, had made strenuous efforts in the past to keep from polluting the stream. He said that the department wanted to protect the fish, have pure water for the farmers' stock and at the same time, not injure the factory.

Mr. Galloway said that marl, recommended by Mr. Travers, to remove the poison, is an effective purifier. "Our attitude in this whole business has been to cooperate with everybody responsible to the best of our ability," said Mr. Galloway. "Our whole desire is not to pollute the stream. We have 75 men and their families depending on our organization, and we dumped about $350,000 into Greene County last year in addition to taxes and other expenses. Our company is now operating night and day and has been since March 1, 1922 and we have eight weeks' orders ahead."

No definite date for complete installation of the purifying system can be set, said Mr. Galloway and the state department and the court has allowed the company ample time to investigate different types of tanks in order to determine the most effective and the most economical. The system to be installed is that recommended by Mr. Travers.

The remedy in use at the plant for some time has been effective, it was said at the hearing, until the company increased its operations, turning out more waste water and not increasing the marl. As a result the waste matter was not properly treated, the state alleged, and it was left in a reservoir in order to let the poisonous sludge settle. The heat caused it to ferment instead, the state contended, throwing off poisonous gases that made it more harmful to fish when finally released.

Under the changes to be made, marl and lime will be used to treat the waste water in a series of tanks through which it will flow, while deposits the sludge, which will be retrieved and is admirable for fertilizer, it is said. State department men say this system is positive protective, and that if the proper alkali ingredients are added according to the amount of water to be purified, that the sludge will be precipitated, the poison rendered harmless and the waste water will flow off unharmed to fish.

With the completion of the installation of this system, company officials are following the letter of the suggestions and recommendations of the state department and believe they will have, alleviated further dangers to fish in the stream.

Barbed Wire in War and Peace

Thousands of Persons are as Much Prisoners Today in Some Ways as Were These Hostages

THE term "barbed wire disease," vividly descriptive of a condition developed among prisoners of war, may well apply in time of peace. There are other barbed wires than those which enclosed 6,000,000 men in the prison camps during the course of the war. There are, at all times, moral and social barriers which do violence to the aspirations, the sanctities, the rights, of human life. And it is to be remembered that millions of men alive today carry in body and soul the deep marks of their prison-camp experiences.

For the most part these war prisoners were able-bodied fellows, in the prime of life, penned like the worst offenders against organized society, though they had committed no crime. To these men in the hour of their need America held out a helping hand.

It was a ghastly life. Every day the same thing over and over again, within a circle of fixed bayonets and hate; nothing to do, nowhere to go, pitifully little to eat, and that of poor quality, the same old faces day after day, and every one of them as sour as one's own; no chance to get away alone. Only when dead sick were you taken to a hospital. You had a cold, hard bunk or perhaps only a box-stall or a wet dug-out to sleep in. And all this month after month, perhaps year after year. Some fellows were good pals out in the open; but after they had been shut up awhile, they got impossible as companions.

HORRORS OF PRISON CAMPS ALLEVIATED

In many prison camps men sickened and died like flies. Far worse, many went insane. An observer found a group of officers who could not tell their own names. Some men got food packages from the folks at home but there were millions who never had anything to eat but soup and hard chunks of bread. A welfare worker wrote a report of a camp where he had seen over 600 men, not one weighing over 75 pounds, lying on their cots all day long because they were too exhausted physically and mentally to do anything else. It was not altogether the fault of those who ran the prison camps.

When people are living on war rations themselves and their children are dying for lack of proper food, it is not easy to work up enough love for your enemy to deny yourself food so that he can be comfortable.

Sometimes the prisoners were taken out of the camps and put to work. As a rule, this was better. Variety of life and work make men happier; and men who are to work must be fed. But the guards were not always careful as to how hard they worked their prisoners; and when these guards were out of the range of the commandant's eye, the brutes among them saw a fine chance to take it out of the hides of the prisoners. It was hard to help prisoners.

Life for the prisoner was made far easier through the welfare work. He was taught a trade, taught reading, writing and language, given athletic opportunity, got his package from home, his mail forwarded, and at Christmas his tree.

Everyone was suspicious of everyone else and popular opinion everywhere was against giving the prisoners a good time. Only gradually could representatives of neutral nations, such as Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and America, get a chance to ease the prisoners' lot. Through the American Ambassadors a great deal was done to investigate complaints and to improve camp conditions. They and their staffs worked night and day to get food to prisoners, to secure privileges, and to smooth out misunderstandings, that caused reprisals. When Ambassador Gerard secured an athletic field for the British prisoners at Ruhleben near Berlin he helped to save life. The Red Cross societies, and particularly the American Red Cross, supplied large quantities of food and medical supplies.

Then, under the direction of the War Prisoners' Aid of the Y. M. C. A., neutral American workers were allowed to visit the camps. Only a few were given permission in each country but they were able to come face to face with the prisoners and find out what they wanted. They were admitted everywhere only on condition that service should be offered to all prisoners in all countries. "Barbed-wire disease" could be cured only by the patient himself, and all he needed was the chance. Just a little equipment was enough to change the tone of a whole camp. On a single football hundreds of men could kick out all their bad temper. Checkers and chessmen drew their minds away from their trouble. A single mouth-organ found its way into a group of working prisoners in England; they were soon dancing. Handicrafts gave endless employment—a box of tools was a life-saver. Through the agency of American Ambassadors and American civilian societies, books and magazines, microscopes and draughting materials, printing presses and artists' supplies, sporting goods and musical instruments were brought into the prison camps. Hymn books and religious literature vitalized the comforting ministry of religion. Razors, tooth-brushes and shoe-brushes, helped men sustain self-respect. In the midst of these horrors was worked out a crowning victory of the human spirit. Courageous prisoners, under the stimulus of need and friendly help, organized the camps and set up discipline, useful activities, and entertainment. There grew up in camp after camp the idea that the time spent in confinement need not be wasted. Educational classes were opened and, in spite of all the discouragements, men actually learned languages, arts, and sciences. The hardest experience was turned to good account. There were war heroes without number among prisoners of war. Through their civilian agencies America played a large part in mitigating the hardships of these caged men in a field where there was little or no other help. In service to all—regardless of color, creed, or nationality—the first steps were made in the achievement of true human brotherhood. This work still goes on in Germany where Russian prisoners from the old imperial army, unable to return to Bolshevik Russia, have organized a vocational school at Wunsdorf with the aid of the American Y. M. C. A. This same organization conducts a correspondence school for Russians. More than 4,000 ex-patriated students in 27 countries are studying, through this method, a score of practical and cultural courses.

THE END OF A CHAPTER.

The statement of Prime Minister Baldwin in the House of Commons Thursday marks the end of one phase in the wearying, baffling puzzle of German reparations and the Ruhr. It is a notice to all concerned that Great Britain has made up her mind to act alone if she finds it impossible to act in concert with her old friends and allies. London is ready to draft a reply to Berlin's last offer and hopes it will meet the approval of Paris, Brussels and Rome.

It is not a warning of the break-up of the Entente. That may come, but not yet. For the most part it is a plea for good will and for concord. It may or it may not be the final British plea for accord, the last British effort to find some common ground with France. Considering the veiled activities back of diplomatic screens during the past month, the Baldwin speech is more significant in what it fails to say than in what it says. It is colorless and undramatic, but there are sinister silences in it and strange blank spaces left to be filled by the speculations of Berlin and the imaginings of Paris.

In his partial statement of the British case, Mr. Baldwin points out that Germany must pay. To this every one but Germany must pay. To this every one but Germany is agreed. He does not say how much she can or should pay, nor does he offer any means of determining.

He insists that Germany must not be ruined. With this, except for France, there will be general and instant agreement. The Ruhr occupation, he contends, has reduced reparations and is about to cause a German collapse. This view will, of course, be challenged by Premier Poincare and most Frenchmen. Mr. Baldwin hopes for accord among the Allies. For that matter, so do Poincare, Theunis and Mussolini.

His most significant utterance, reserved to the last of his statement, is this:

So far as united action is possible, we shall continue to pursue it. We shall confidently invite the sympathetic consideration of the whole of our Allies and all the interested states to proposals which will have no other aim than the pacification of Europe and the recovery of an exhausted world.

Until these proposals are offered and given due consideration by the Allies, the interested states and the world, there can be no verdict on the British attitude.

What Britain's Prime Minister has done is to make a start toward closing a chapter, ending a phase and breaking a deadlock. Another deadlock, equally stubborn, may follow, since France is in no mood for yielding. What the next phase may be Baldwin of London does not know, nor does Poincare of Paris or Cuno of Berlin. When a log jam breaks no man may say whether it will run free to open water or form again on hidden rocks.—Public Ledger.

CARDINAL WARNS GERMANS TO STOP BEGGING OF AMERICA.

Cardinal Faulhaber, Berlin, has issued a warning through the Catholic Press that the flood of begging letters being addressed to Americans by Germans, is damaging the willingness of Americans to contribute to organized relief work. It seems there are persons in Europe, he said, who from early morning until late at night do nothing but write letters to America. He cited the case of a woman who wrote 11,000 letters and complained that she received but 300 replies. Another woman sent and received so much mail that the police investigated and found her busily copying a form letter which made the unfounded plea that she had pawned her wedding ring to get postage for the letter which she hoped would bring her relief since she had but seven potatoes left which would last only seven days more.

Cardinal Faulhaber, who recently returned from America, reminded the public that many contributions from the United States were from wage-earners who made sacrifices in order to give and urged that nothing be done to increase America's feeling that she is fed up with Europe.

FRENCH SENATE RATIFIES NAVAL LIMITATION PACT.

The French Parliament completed ratification of the Washington Naval Limitation Treaty and the Four-Power Pacific Accord by overwhelming votes in the Senate last week. The naval limitation treaty was ratified without reservation and with but three dissenting votes, while the Pacific accord was approved immediately after, unanimously and without debate.

The vote was passed largely by proxy, as the stifling heat kept most of the Senators away. The French objections to any restriction were voiced, but the trend of the discussion was that France was financially unable to build even up to the limit of the capital ship program during the life of the Washington agreement, and the opposition was mainly sentimental. Speakers insisted, however, that it must be definitely understood that the treaty did not restrict the building of lighter craft and submarines on which the French expect to spend most of their naval appropriations.

Premier Poincare made only one observation. He reminded the Senate that the treaty applied exclusively to capital ships, as the French viewpoint had carried the day at Washington with regard to the smaller vessels and submarines. Minister of Marine Raiberti made a straightforward statement of the Government's belief that the treaty permitted all the naval construction financially possible for France.

There was no damage, however, except to a few trees.

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves less fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus.

That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. ### BILL

Bill was a fisherman. He'd sit and wait for them. Knew where they were and he knew how to bait for them. He'd get up early and he'd stay out late for them.

Bill knew the places and just where to go for them. Others gave up when the fishing seemed slow for them. Bill wanted fish and was willing to row for them.

Hour after hour he would work with his lure for them. Studied their habits to make angling sure for them. The long tedious hours he was glad to endure for them.

Bill could catch fish when the most of us couldn't.

He'd get a string when the signs said he shouldn't. But Bill would go out when the rest of us wouldn't.

Any old fool can catch fish when they're biting. When they are hungry all bait is inviting. But it takes work when the east wind you're fighting.

Boy, here's the test of you, there's no denying. How do you tell when the storm flags are flying? Any poor salesman can sell when they're buying.

Boy, when they tell you it's no use to go for them. East is the wind and you haven't a show for them. Do you tie up your boat—or get out there and row for them?

Today's Talk

TO ONE WHO HAS LOST

I know a little how you must feel. Like walking through a world with a mother just gone. Or like going back into battle with the beloved leader missing.

But it is only when we are stripped of all that we once felt was ours forever, that we come to appreciate the worth of unselfish service rendered outside of ourselves.

Remember this—you have yourself now! You may do with it whatso-ever you please. Before, you had the gifts of others—and they melted before the blazing sun of loss and disappointment as dew does under a summer sun.

But no one may remove that living personality—that you of yours—from this moving world except this same self of yours.

How much alone you are, how dependent and frail—yet how exceedingly strong you are! Now what you do and become shall indeed be what you most desire. And every day you shall win royally and your happiness shall be sweeter than the purest honey that the bees go out to gather.

One of the virtues of greatness is not to be afraid to start all over again.

What you earn will be so honestly yours. How many tired nights will come to you—but each one will be met with a smile from your heart.

There are many roads ahead. None are smooth. Most of them are good roads leading to a happy destination. Choose one. And then clear it and make it your very own.

And be happy over the fact that others will follow and pass over the way that your toil and heartaches have made possible and passible.

Some day you will learn that you didn't lose at all—but that you gained.

LAW RAISING AGE LIMIT FOR GIRLS EFFECTIVE JULY 18

Girls under 21 years of age will have to have consent of their parents or guardians in obtaining marriage licenses from now.

The new state law putting girls on the same basis as men in regard to reaching the age of discretion became effective at midnight Tuesday. A cross mark on the calendar in Probate Court is a reminder to officials that Wednesday marks the beginning of the time when the age limit for girls is raised.

"Girls under 21 years of age applying for licenses without being accompanied by parents today will have to give assurance that the licenses will be made use of before Wednesday or they will be void," Deputy Probate Judge S. C. Wright said Tuesday.

While it has been necessary for men to have consent of parents or guardians up to the age of 21 in obtaining licenses, women have been supposed to reach the age of discretion at 18 and could marry after that age without consent.

The law effective Tuesday night and enforced for the first time Wednesday, fixes 21 as the age limit for both men and women. Girls under 21 must bring their parents or guardians with them the same as men in applying for licenses after Wednesday.

Girls who have reached the age of 18, or years of discretion, prior to Wednesday enjoyed their maturity only temporarily for they dropped back into the infant classification when this law became effective.

"WAIT A MINUTE" Irritates Many People

DOES your office girl sometimes "get Brown on the line" and then ask him to "wait a minute" while she calls you to talk to him?

Did you ever stop to consider that Brown may not like this very well? He may think that you are imposing on him.

Of all bad telephone habits the one most universally condemned by business men is the "wait a minute" habit. It is a habit that not only causes loss of time and business friendship, but often turns away profitable trade.

When you start a call, the courteous, business-like thing to do is to remain at your telephone and be ready to talk.

When you receive a call do as you want people to do when you call—answer promptly.

The Proper Use of the Telephone by Everyone will Make the Service of Greater Value to All.

FAIR OPENING IS ONLY TWO WEEKS AWAY—WORK BEGUN

With the opening day of the Greene County Fair only two weeks away, the Fair Board is busy arranging the details for what it is believed will be the largest Fair Greene County has ever had. The various departments are offering highly attractive premiums and provision is being made for caring for the largest number of exhibits ever handled on the grounds.

Announcement that the dining hall will be in charge of the local W. C. T. U. means that Fair patrons will be able to get the finest of meals right on the grounds every day of the Fair. It assures an attractively arranged dining hall with delicious home cooking.

The cattle department in charge of Mr. W. B. Harner is offering premiums that should bring herds from all over the state. A new cattle shed has been built and is ready for use. The sheep department with Mr. Walter St. John in charge has made several improvements in the sheep sheds and will be able to take care of this department in better shape than ever before.

J. H. Lackey, who is in charge of the swine department has been using the state classification for the last year and the result will be a great improvement in the hog show. Four special shows have been added with the last few years and this year two more will be placed. There will be a Poland China Breed Promotion Pig Show with a premium of $100.00 given by Fair Board and the Poland China Association, also a Poland China Pig Club project show, confined to Greene County, with total premiums of $50.00 given by the Poland China Association and the Greene County Poland China Association. The Duroc and spotted China Association has taken advantage of the Fair Board's offer to meet them on a $50.00 premium provided they raise a like amount. This will make the Duroc breed prominent in the coming Fair.

The new law which makes it necessary for all foreign concessionaires to have a state license so that any crooked work can be immediately reported to the State, will go far toward cleaning up the Fairs of the state by shutting out crooks and gamblers it is believed. The local Fair Board is making a united effort to have the coming fair clear of all gambling and other undesirable features and give the people instead a group of interesting attractive shows that will make the "Midway" an entertaining feature.

PROPERTY IS PARTITIONED

Partition of property has been allowed in two cases filed in Common Pleas Court by William J. Evans. In the first case, against Charles R. Evans, each owning a half-interest in certain city property, commissioners R. R. Grieve, T. H. Bell and Charles Harnage appraised the property at $8,000 and the plaintiff bought it at that price. In the second case he was allowed partition against Frank Evans, and others, each, the plaintiff and defendants being entitled to a one-sixth interest as held by the court. R. R. Grieve, Ernest Kelsey and Howard Sheehan were appointed commissioners. On their appraisal at $4,500, the plaintiff elected to take the property paying Frank Evans, Minnie Gest, Alta Snyp, Lou Lacey and Charles Evans each $747.16 for their one-sixth shares.

PARTITION ALLOWED

Partition has been allowed in Common Pleas Court in the case of Mollie Gordon against Amy F. Shille, and others. The decision held that Mollie Gordon, Amy F. Shille, Irene C. Adist, Flora Johnson, Lester A. McKillip, and Lena Jenks were each entitled to one twelfth and Mary McKillip to a one-half interest. A. L. Smith, W. O. Bullock and Charles Beal were appointed commissioners to appraise the property.

A decision in Common Pleas Court in the case of F. D. Anderson against Sipel Morin and others, has been decided in favor of the defendants. The Court held that in failing to keep up payments on certain property he was purchasing from Sipel Morin, that the contract was therefore void and the defendant, Sipel Morin had a legal right to convey the property to John Stewart, whom the Court found, did not conspire against the plaintiff.

Chapter 49

NATALIE'S MOOD Baffles HORACE

For a space both Horace and Natalie fell silent. He had exhausted his entreaties; all he could do was to reiterate them. And Natalie, cold, aloof, sat with her eyes fixed on the floor, her hands working nervously in her lap.

"Natalie is there any one else?" Horace finally asked in desperation.

"What do you mean—anyone else?" "What do you mean?"

Even the question was apathetic, the mood of the morning still upon her.

"Have you given your love to another? Is that why you are so unforgiving?"

Natalie started, shocked. The blood rushed into her cheeks and lips and drained away leaving her deathlike.

After a moment she said: "There never was anybody but you."

In a moment she was in Horace's arms. He was kissing her, calling her all the endearing names that came to him, holding her close. She opened her lips to speak, but with tender kisses he closed them.

"Dearest," he said, "you have forgiven me. You do love me tell me so."

"I love you, yes. That's what has made it so hard," Natalie said, drawing away. "Let me go, please. I am stupid. I can't think—so."

"I don't want you to think, dear," Horace replied, releasing her. "I will think for you. I have been living for this hour, when I should find you, win your forgiveness and take you home. Oh, my poor dear! I never can forgive myself."

The sound of a baby's wailing reached them.

"Please go now, Horace. I must help Etta."

"But you are going with me. Etta will have to get along without you."

"No, I am not going—back there. We'll travel a while first. You are ill, worn out. I'll—"

"I shall never go back."

"I—why, Natalie—I don't understand. You say you love me, that there is no one else. Do you think I shall let you go now that I have found you?"

"You must."

Horace looked at his wife in amazement. From the moment she had told him there was no one else he had no slightest doubt that she would return to him. He had found her. She was his.

"There is no use talking any longer. Horace. There is only one way I should ever consent to come back to you—and that way is not possible—to you."

Natalie spoke slowly as if weighing each word. Her heart was crying out for him, his kisses. His tender words had called forth all her longing for him, yet she would not surrender.

"There is nothing I will not do, Natalie, nothing."

"Will you take an apartment, a house, make me a mistress, live alone with me—as Clyde and Etta live, letting your mother live where she will? I thought not," as she watched his face. "I told you it was impossible for me to come back to you."

Horace's promise to his mother! He had sworn never to leave her, to live with her as long as she lived. She would not release him, that he knew. And now he also sensed the strength of Natalie's will. She had suffered cruelly, was poor, worn out with the struggle; yet she was determined to accept nothing from him—be nothing to him unless he broke his promise.

"You make it very hard, Natalie."

"Harder than it has been made for me?" she asked.

"Oh, my dear, my dear, what can I say?"

"Nothing, Horace. Go back to your mother the woman who treated me as less than nothing, because she thought me not worth her notice. But please go now. I feel ill—I'm so tired. Natalie, will you make me a promise?" Horace asked, almost beside himself. "Will you stay here with Etta? Let me pay her for taking care of you until I can hear from mother. She must release me from my promise. I am sure she will when she understands."

A wild laugh broke from Natalie's lips.

"Go try if you want to, but she will never release you; never give you back to a misfit. I'll give you time to cable and get your answer, a week. In a week—now go!" the girl said fiercely. Horace bent over, kissed her, then sought Etta, and pressing a roll of bills into her hand, told her Natalie had promised to remain with her for a week. At the end of the week he would come again.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Xenia woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Xenia experience:

Mrs. Woodrow C. Warner, 225 E. Third St., says: "Several years ago I was in misery with pains that seized me through my back. When I stooped to dust I got such terrible sharp stabs of pain through the small of my back I could hardly move at times. Mornings my back ached, shoulders felt as stiff as a board. I was tired and weak and became dizzy. I also had severe nervous spells. My kidneys were irregular in action and caused me considerable annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills were highly recommended to me so I got some. Several boxes relieved me of the trouble; the pains in my back left and my kidneys became normal."

CONGRESS WILL SEE FIGHT TO REDUCE TAXES

Program Being Outlined to

Battle Between Progress-

Washington, July 18.—New legislation with a new revenue table, scaling down the tax burden for those of
moderate incomes, was the program
being outlined today by the progressive group in Congress.

Washington regarded as certain a determined fight by this congressional
a battle between the progressives and conservatives almost from the tap of the bell in the Congress convening next December to shift the major part
against American taxpayers, from the
poor to the rich by readjustments, relieving the rich of some of the so-called exemptions.

The fight for tax reduction or
population, who are convinced that
the tax yoke they carry is an unequal one, has now been given impetus by the election of Magnus Johnson as Senator from Minnesota. No other event in recent months has had such vital bearings upon the entire
the Senate and bolster up the already
LaFollette. The Republican majority
in the Senate has been sharply reduced, if account is taken of the
strength which can be wielded by
combinations between the progres-

YEGGS WHO ROBBED BRYANT COMPANY ELUDE OFFICERS

Complete check of the loss sustained by the Bryant Auto Sales
Company, Ford agents, when yeggs
blew the safe early Sunday morning,
raised the cash loss from $500 to $700 according to E. R. Bryant, proprietor.

"Invoice of the loss sustained was completed, Tuesday evening, after a careful check of receipts. Checks
reported missing were found during
the investigation. With an envelope containing $20 in cash and an
other containing a smaller amount,
the checks were pushed under a radiator in the office. They were found Tuesday.

Mortgages contained among papers
in the safe were also found to be
undisturbed. A number of notes and
securities, however, were represented
in the loot taken by the cracksmen.
The yeggs blew the safe about one
o'clock Sunday morning, using one
blast to open each of two doors.
The robbery was not discovered until about eight o'clock Sunday morning.

The robbery is the third in which
safes have been blown in the county
are baffled in the attempt to trace
robberies. Efforts of police to find a tangible clue to the latest
less.

high cost of living" is keeping down
the marriage rate in Ohio, according
to E. R. Abrams, Cleveland, secretary of the Ohio Retail Jewelers' As-
convention here.

Advocating removal of unjust and
unnecessary taxes on jewelry, Abrams said: "Many a young couple,
I've been told, won't get married for
no other reason than that engagement rings, wedding rings and other essential nuptial jewelry is too high
and its price is kept up by the unnecessary tax."

Senators and Representatives have
been appealed to in a nation-wide

FEDERAL COURT READY FOR FIGHT WITH BIG HARVESTER COMPANY

Washington, July 18.—The Federal Court squared away today for an-
tional Harvester Company. Five years ago the court held that the
corporation was a combination in restraint of trade and ordered it
dissolved.

lieves, however, that this dissolution has not been accomplished ac-

Ex-Soldiers Renew Old Acquaintances Wednesday

Lads, who "hated to get up in the
morning," to the strains of a leather-lunged bugler's reveille a few years ago, were up and about early Wednesday in preparation for the first annual reunion of Company F., 330th
Infantry, 83rd Division, at the Greene
County Fair Grounds.

In "civvies," uniforms and remnants of uniforms, they began arriving at the appointed place early for their first convale, which began at nine o'clock. Although the distance
represented only a short wartime
hike, few reported to the army means
of transportation to reach the fairgrounds. Uniforms were not prescribed but many costumed themselves in their "olive drabs," hobnailed trench shoes, overseas caps
and other paraphernalia.

from Greene, Fayette and Clinton Counties, answered "assembly" at
nine o'clock. Renewal of friendships
marked the first get-together and the
ex-doughboys fought all over again camp life during the "big snow" at Camp Sherman and the "battle of the cooties" at the billet at Le Mans, France.

These soldiers represented the first
to leave this section for Camp Sher-
man. Greene County members of the unit were in initial increments for

YOUNG BRIDE IS FOUND MURDERED- HUSBAND DYING

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 18.—Mrs. Julia Coyne, 18, beautiful bride of five months, the pride of that locality today, was found murdered in her "honeymoon cottage" at Port Perry, near Bradock. Her head had been battered in as she apparently lay asleep.

Her father, John Conroy, went to tell his girl that her husband, Patrick Coyne, lay close to death in a Pittsburgh hospital with both legs cut off as the result of a railroad accident last night.

The girl had been dead for some time, according to a hasty examination made by Coroner MacGregor.
The detective force has started a man-hunt for the girl's slayer.

SEEK REMOVAL OF STUEBENVILLE MAYOR

Stuebenville, O., July 18.—Petitioning asking for the removal of Mayor Frank A. Hawkins and Chief of Police Blaine D. Carter of this city, and evidence gathered by detectives within the past month, will be presented to Governor Donahay for consideration early next week. Attorney Nathan P.
Willis, of Columbus, chief counsel for the Ku Klux Klan in Ohio, stated today.

According to law and he has asked the United States District Court, at St.
Paul, Minn., to order the concern separated into three separate corporations with separate stockholders and directors.

HAM LOWER BUT NOT IN GREAT DEMAND SAYS MEAT PACKER

Chicago, July 18.—Ham and eggs,
which, with the succulent pie, have been the premier blue birds of American grub aristocracy ever since Columbus and his intrepid yachtmen ferried over, were threatened today
with permanent loss of their social
niche.

little woman are breakfasting more
and more on sawdust cereals or else they're not breakfasting much at all.

created by the announcement here, of Thomas E. Wilson, president of the packing company which bears his
name, that despite wholesale ham
prices being 25 to 33 per cent lower
than a year ago, no one is in the slightest degree excited about it. Ham
is being consumed in liberal quantities
gray mare, isn't what he used to be.

Although other pork products are
at pre-war levels the public is not taking advantage of it in a way to make
this packing town pat itself on the
year."

Unless the public does, why then like the daphnins of France, the tribunes of the Tiber and the Grand-
dees of Castile, another and even
greater noble-ham-and-eggs-coun-

Cincinnati, July 18.—Answering a mysterious telephone call yesterday,
Mrs. Bernard S. Wendall, 127 West
Daniels Street, was informed that her husband had been injured in an auto
wreck and was at General Hospital.
Mrs. Wendall hurried to the hospital,
only to find that her husband was not
there.

On June 22, Mrs. Anna Marie Bed-inger, 38, received a similar telephone
call and hurried to a hospital, since
found.

OVER 50 PER CENT GRANTED PAROLES

Columbus, July 18.—Parole from Ohio penal institutions was granted to 54 per cent of all the applicants last year, according to the final report of the state board of pardons and parole.
Paroles from the penitentiary were granted to 1,008, from the women's reformatory, Marysville 176, and from Mansfield reformatory 115.

SUSPECT HELD.

Toledo, July 18.—James S. Richards
of New York city is held by police
here, following his attempt to pass a check for $9,875 in the Northern National bank. Two well-dressed young
been accomplices, are being sought
by police. They were seen to leave hurriedly when Richards was captured.

Murder Takes Place On Chicago Street Corner;

CRIME IN NEW YORK

Wave of Outlawry Sweeps
Kept On Jump

Chicago, July 18.—Backed by orders
to "shoot to kill on sight," police today were drawing in a dragnet in which they hope to snare Ambrose Gilberto, believed to be a man-mur-derer, Cologero Salerno and who probably fatally wounded Charles Goetz, private secretary to the president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and
St. Paul railroad.

Gilberto fired six bullets into the
body of Salerno on a crowded street corner, killing him instantly. The slayer then leaped into the nearest
automobile with Goetz at the wheel.
When Goetz, forced to drive at the
pistol point, slowed up to avoid a collision, Gilberto shot him twice. Hospital physicians say he probably will die.

The shooting of Salerno, police say,
followed violent quarreling between Salerno and Gilberto over the charge
that Mrs. Salerno had left her husband for Gilberto.

Convinced the slayer is insane,
police have issued orders to kill him
on sight if he makes the least resistance.

New York, July 18.—Gunmen, high-waymen and lesser bands of trouble-makers combined yesterday to keep
the police on the jump.

Entries on the police headquarters blotter include:
Three shooting affrays, as a result
of which two men are expected to
die.

Holdup and theft by bandits disguised as policemen and detectives
silk.

Belated announcement of a $75,000
silk truck robbery that occurred Saturday.

Assault and robbery of two pedestrians.

Attack by a crazed negro on a sub-
way passenger, which sent scores
rushing for safety.

The most spectacular of the shooting affrays was a pistol duel in Second Ave. between Frank Rogers and Patrick Cotter, over an alleged insult
alleged to have been offered Mrs.

ENTIRE PHILIPPINE CABINET RESIGNS- WOOD UNDER FIRE

Manila, July 18.—Characterizing
their resignation as "a challenge and
a threat" which he could not ignore, Governor General Leonard Wood accepted the proffered resignations of
the entire Philippine cabinet at a dramatic conference in the governor general's offices.

Manuel Quezon, Filipino political
leader and president of the senate,
read the resignation of the cabinet,
which charged Governor Wood with
undue interference with cabinet affairs. General Wood, in dramatic fashion, then accepted the resignations. One member of the cabinet,
Jose Laurel, secretary of the interior,
burst into tears. The others showed their surprise and Quezon paled visibly.

The letter of resignation said in part: "We have observed for some
desire as governor general to intervene in and control, even to the smallest details, affairs of our government,
both insular and local, in utter disregard of the authority and responsibility of the department and other officials concerned."

General Wood said: "You have
made no effort whatever to adjust the
alleged disagreements. Your plans have been deliberately made and your
action is in the character of a challenge and a threat, which I can not ignore. I regret exceedingly this occurrence. Under the circumstances, there is no alternative left for me but
to accept, as I now do, your resignations as presented."

Repeal of the Esch-Cummings railroad law; revision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff; government grain
purchase and storage to assure the
farmers "a living wage"; nationaliza-
tion of water power resources and
immediate development; complete revision of the federal reserve banking
institution to divorce it from Wall
street and make it serve the people;
constitutional amendment to prevent
the supreme court from declaring
acts of congress unconstitutional by a majority vote of the court; soldiers'
bonus to be paid out of excess profits
and not by sales tax; restriction of injunction in industrial pursuits;
more stringent regulation of the packing industry; complete equality of
men and women, politically and in-

OWN THROAT.

Warren, O., July 18.—Nick Dabich,
45, farmer, and his wife, Bessie, 38,
of Southington, parents of 11 children,
are in Warren hospital in a critical condition and may die as the outcome
of a quarrel. Dabich cut his own throat after bringing his wife, whom
he had accidentally shot, to the hospital here. His windpipe was severed.
The woman was shot in the foot,
which was amputated, and her condition is serious.

Political Leaders Express Opinions on Election

Leaders Give Views of Minnesota Result

Washington, July 18.—The victory
of Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor
candidate, over Governor Preus, Republican, in the contest to fill Minnesota's vacant seat in the United States senate is conclusive evidence
that the state is dissatisfied with the
view of political observers here.

The fact that the Democratic candidate for the vacancy polled less than five per cent of the total vote cast
is accepted as revealing a surprising
unwillingness on the part of the
voters to rely on either of the two major political parties for relief.

Republicans point to the fact that
the Democrat received such an insignificant vote and Democrats emphasize the assertion that Johnson's victory is the "most significant and
humiliating defeat and repudiation the Harding administration has yet suffered since the nation-wide repudiation in 1922."

Leaders in both parties, however,
are reluctant to recognize the result
as manifesting a distrust of Republicans and Democrats alike and a demand for "a new deal" in the hope that the people will benefit thereby.

The election of Senator Johnson
will give the LaFollette group the balance of power in the senate.

The view of the result entertained
by some Republican leaders was
Secretary of War Weeks: "If Min-nesotans want that kind of man for

Chairman Adams of the Republican National committee, said: "Certainly
the Democratic party can not get much comfort out of this result. On
the face of the returns, it appears that the farmer-labor candidate endorsed by several other organizations, including the communists, received the bulk of the Democratic vote. Conservative Democratic leaders in Minnesota supported Preus. As the situation stands today, the Republican party is the only organized influence around which the constructive, pro-
rally. In Minnesota the Democratic organization has been completely
wiped out by the third parties of wilded tendencies."

William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet
and aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination, said: "Johnson's
victory is a reflection of the contempt
and disgust which the people regard
the Harding administration."

national committee issued a long
statement emphasizing the result "as
the first reaction of the voters at the polls to President Harding's transcontinental political tour with its boast of prosperity, its characteristic evasions and reversals and facing both ways."

JOHNSON PLURALITY IN MINNESOTA IS OVER 75 THOUSAND

St. Paul, July 18.—Magnus Johnson,
Farmer-Labor candidate for United States senator, has rolled up a plurality over Governor Preus, Republican,
of between 75,000 and 100,000. Indications are that he may have a clear
plurality over both Preus and Senator Carley, the Democratic candidate, of upwards of 60,000.

Johnson's program for the next senate, with a declaration of opposition to the world court and the league of
follows:

Repeal of the Esch-Cummings railroad law; revision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff; government grain
purchase and storage to assure the
farmers "a living wage"; nationaliza-
tion of water power resources and
immediate development; complete revision of the federal reserve banking
institution to divorce it from Wall
street and make it serve the people;
constitutional amendment to prevent
the supreme court from declaring
acts of congress unconstitutional by a majority vote of the court; soldiers'
bonus to be paid out of excess profits
and not by sales tax; restriction of injunction in industrial pursuits;
more stringent regulation of the packing industry; complete equality of
men and women, politically and in-

MISSING BODY FOUND.

Cincinnati, July 18.—While tracing
a fishing line in the Ohio river William Brueshaber, 39, found the body of Gordon Spidel, 22, mail clerk of Cincinnati, who drowned at Bromley, Ky., while engaged in a swimming contest with his bride of two months, Mrs. Helen Spidel.

FATAL FALL.

Lancaster, O., July 18.—William F.
Binger, 39, groceryman, died here
as the result of internal injuries received in a fall from a cherry tree
four weeks ago. Two operations failed
to save his life.

Judge Anna Gluzman

Ann Gluzman, Judge of the highest Russian Soviet Court, sitting in Moscow, is the most feared official
in Soviet Russia. She has sentenced
more than 50 persons to death, calmly and quietly. The severity of her prison sentences against both men
and women, is notorious.

ENGLAND MAKING REPRESENTATIONS TO MOVE FRANCE

London, July 18.—Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, note to the Gto communicate the contents of the British reparations note to the German ambassador, Herr St. Hamer,
when they confer this evening.

A cabinet meeting was to have been held this afternoon to consider the reparations issue, but it was postponed until tomorrow. The postponement
gave rise to belief that new representations were being made to France
by England.

The British note has been completed.
It is comparatively short, outlining the British proposals with the utmost brevity. It proposes an international commission to fix the sum of German
indemnity but proposes additional safeguards for France to guarantee
German payments.

It is understood Belgium is bringing additional pressure upon France in an effort to weaken the stern program of the Paris government.

PHYSICAL EXAMS ARE SAID NEEDED

Columbus, July 18.—A high death
rate exists among school children because of failure to give the students
proper physical inspections, according
to a Chamber of Commerce report to the Board of Education, widely discussed here today.

Physical instruction is given to
great a prominence over inspection it was declared. The Chamber of Commerce feels that many school failures
are due to prevalence of disease and
physical imperfections which could be eradicated by proper supervision.

WORKMEN FIND LIQUOR 20 YEARS OLD

Cadiz, O., July 18.—A half pint of
liquor at least twenty years old was
found by workmen today when they
tore up the floor of the Methodist Episcopal Church here.

Workmen asserted that the liquor
was the finest of pre-prohibition stuff,
mellow with age and probably worth
a sufficient sum to pay for repairs
on the church.

Just what disposition to make of the liquor is a puzzle to the board of deacons of the church.

Columbus, July 18.—Efforts are
again being made to organize state
employees. P. F. Duffy, representative of the American Federation of Labor,
is in charge of the move, which is designed to embrace both civil service
and non-civil service employees. He
is working in co-operation with John
E. Sullivan, president of the Columbus Federation of Labor. Employees of the state industrial commission
were organized some time ago.

MISSING BODY FOUND.

Cincinnati, July 18.—While tracing
a fishing line in the Ohio river William Brueshaber, 39, found the body of Gordon Spidel, 22, mail clerk of Cincinnati, who drowned at Bromley,
Ky., while engaged in a swimming
contest with his bride of two months,
Mrs. Helen Spidel.

and Goes On Board Henderson for Home

STOPS WILL BE MADE

Presidential Party Disappointed With Result of
Senate Election

Seward, Alaska, July 18.—President Harding and party reached this city from Fairbanks and went aboard
the Henderson for the return trip to the states.

On the way down stops will be made at Valdez and Sitka.

Secretaries Work and Hoover left
the train at Anchorage to hear complaints of the Alaskans on various
matters in connection with inland
fisheries. It is expected the Henderson will get under way for Seattle
late tonight or Thursday morning, depending on the length of time required for these hearings.

Mrs. Harding spent a comfortable night on the train. She did not appear for breakfast when the party alighted from the train at Curry, but
it was explained she was merely resting and would breakfast later in the private car assigned to the president.

President Harding was greatly disappointed with the result of the senatorial election in Minnesota. While generally conceding Preus had a hard
fight before him, the president and
cabinet members accompanying him
were not prepared for the defeat of
the Republican candidate in such an amazing fashion as that administered
by Johnson.

The president declined to comment on the election. It is understood, however, that the president feels that
the Minnesota situation was badly handled and that Governor Preus made
a grave mistake in calling a special election, instead of exercising his
right to appoint Senator Nelson's successor to serve until the next general election in 1924. By calling the special election Preus gave his enemies
in the Farmer-Labor camp a golden
opportunity to duplicate their achievement of two years ago, when they elected Shipstead over Keliog.

The president's farewell to the interior of Alaska was said at Fairbanks. It has been a wonderful trip
and the president has been greatly
impressed with what the homesteaders are doing in carving out this great agricultural empire in a region where

Washington, July 18.—Administration officials admitted today that they have virtually given up all hope
of solving the ship liquor and rum
running problems, by means of extension of the American right of search and seizure out to 12 miles
at sea.

More than three weeks have passed since the proposal originally was made to the allied capitals by Secretary of State Hughes but as yet
no replies have been received.

Led by Great Britain in the great
maritime powers are said to be
"manifestly unfavorable" to any extension of the three-mile limit, regardless of the reasons therefore.
Cognizant of this attitude, officials
concede that with Congress alone
rests the solution of the problem.

LET CONTRACT FOR PRINTING POLL BOOKS

Contracts for the printing of 5, 000 ballots and 14 sets of poll books
for the primary election in August,
were let Tuesday afternoon by the
Greene County Board of Elections.

Johnson and Watson, Dayton,
were given the contract for printing
the poll books, on their low bid.
The Columbus Blank Book Company
was the other bidder for the books.
The Ekerle Printing Company,
Xenia, was awarded the contract for the ballots. The Aldine Publishing House, Xenia, was the other bidder for the ballots. The contracts were let to the low bidder in each case,
members of the election board say.

Cincinnati, O., July 18.—While her husband and children slept, Mrs.
Anna Mulholland, 42, was bound and
gagged and robbed of $18 by two Negroes, in her home. Mrs. Mulholland was at work in the kitchen when the Negroes entered and demanded her money. She hurled an iron at them but missed.

FATAL FALL.

Lancaster, O., July 18.—William F.
Binger, 39, groceryman, died here
as the result of internal injuries received in a fall from a cherry tree
four weeks ago. Two operations failed
to save his life.

TIGER FLOWERS TO MEET TUT JACKSON AT SPRINGFIELD

"Tiger" Flowers, the sensational Atlanta heavyweight, and "Tut" Jackson, the Washington C. H. heavy, are expected to furnish one of the most interesting box cards ever arranged in Springfield when they meet in the ring at Memorial Hall Wednesday night.

The bout will go 12 rounds to a decision, and Referee Johnny Carroll will be in charge. Memphis and New Orleans both bid for this attraction before Ray Bronson, Springfield promoter, outbid them and landed the bout.

When Flowers and Jackson battled July 3 at Atlanta the decision was a draw. Newspapers however, have the "Tiger" the edge in every round. Jackson outweighed Flowers 15 pounds and it was agreed that if both men were on their feet at the end of the final round, a draw decision would be given.

In the eighth round Jackson floored Tiger, with a tap on the jaw.

Edith Kelly Gould Returns To Stage.

Edith Kelly Gould, divorced wife of Frank J. Gould, son of the late Jay Gould, will return shortly to the stage in Paris. The former dance hall star will appear in vaudeville on a twelve weeks' contract. Presumably she is tiding over her financial affairs while her suit for half of her husband's estate is pending.

Flowers taking seven before he pulled himself together. When he came up, however, he jabbed and hooked Jackson into the defensive. Wednesday night's fight is expected to draw the largest crowd that ever witnessed a set-to with the gloves in Springfield. Three other high-class bouts round out the program. Popular prices will prevail.

MCDONNELL JOINS RESERVE STAFF OF HURLERS SUNDAY

The Xenia Reserves will tangle with the Interstate baseball nine of Middletown Sunday afternoon at the Reserve Park, Cincinnati avenue.

The locals have been going good here lately and have won their last two games by large scores which proves they have a real offense.

Manager Jesse Chambliss has added Willie McDonnell to the pitching staff and with Ciphers and McDonnell the Reserves will have capable hurlers. McDonnell used to do mound duty for the Bayliffs but quit that club recently and was signed by the Cincinnati avenue bunch.

He is a capable tosser and will give the best of them a good run for their money. Chambliss is booking stronger teams every week and is promising more good attractions.

Ackerman played his first game for the Reserves last Sunday and he showed up well. He fielded in great fashion and came through with a three base hit.

The Middletown bunch has a classy outfit and one that will make the locals step in order to finish on top. To date they have dropped but two games and both of these were by close scores.

The Reserves will have their regular lineup and the game will get away at 2:30 o'clock with Rachford in charge.

HOLD TOURNAMENT FOR CADDIES AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Ten caddies at the Xenia Country Club played through the qualifying round of the first caddies' tournament ever held at the Club, Tuesday morning.

Caddies who qualified will play for the prizes Thursday morning. Don Currie, professional, is in charge of the tournament.

The qualifying round Tuesday was for nine holes. Twenty-five caddies competed, 15 failing to qualify for the finals Thursday morning.

Robert Currie, turned in the lowest score card for the qualifying round. They completed the course with a card of 49. The other qualifying players to complete Thursday are: Delmer Hook, Russell Barr, Robert Buckles, Howell Davidson, John Hickman, Dwight Bennington, Edwin Bostwick, Fred Smith and James Swindler.

Prizes are: first, $5; second, $3; third, $2; fourth, $1.

LEONARD FULL OF CONFIDENCE ON EVE OF TENDLER BOUT

Tannersville, N. Y., July 18.—For a champion who is about to defend his title against admittedly the most dangerous contender in a year, that has seen the eclipse of a number of other champions, Benny Leonard today is unusually carefree and exuberant.

To say he is confident of the outcome of his bout with Lew Tendler at the Yankee stadium in New York next Monday would be superfluous. As well one might say the Woolworth building is tall, or some equally obvious fact.

"Of course I will win," Leonard said, and then explained his showing in his bout with Tendler a year ago. "You know southpaws are very peculiar. For instance, if you write with your right hand all your life, it is hard and takes time before you can accustom yourself to write with your left. I've been fighting right handed all my life and the first time I fought Tendler I was a bit confused and puzzled."

"But I have had a year's time to scheme out the tactics of a southpaw. I know how they fight and I know how Tendler fights. Tendler is a good strong fellow. He is no easy man to beat and will take plenty of punishment. But still I will beat him." Leonard's confidence was based on a knowledge of his opponents ability and his own physical condition. The champion appeared trim and fit.

PLENTY OF ACTION EXPECTED AS WHITE AND MITCHELL MEET

New York, July 18.—Fistic lovers expect to see plenty of action tonight when Charley White, the Chicago lightweight and Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee boxer, clash in a scheduled 15 round bout. The winner will be next in line to battle for the lightweight crown.

White said today he would win in five rounds.

Mitchell, who arrived here yesterday from Milwaukee, was equally confident he would put out the Chicago fighter.

WOMAN CUE EXPERT TO SHOW ABILITY AT G. CURTIS HALL

"Learn to play pool and billiards and keep your hubby at home," is the advice noted out to married women here by Miss Frances Anderson, of Richmond, Va., said to be the woman's champion pocket billiard player of the world.

Miss Anderson will be at the G. Curtis hall, North Detroit St., Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock to give an exhibition of her prowess in taming the ivory with a cue. She will furnish an exhibition of fancy shots and then will take on some local pocket billiard artist for a series of games. Admission to the exhibition is free.

"There's no reason why pool and billiards should be an exclusively man's game," says Miss Anderson. "Men like to play and if their wives took an interest in the game as many of them do in golfing with their husbands, friend hubby would be more apt to stay at home nights and have his little pool game in his own home."

"Billiards should appeal to a woman as much as tennis or golf. It's certainly a graceful game and requires judgment and good nerves rather than strength and speed. I don't know a better way of keeping the husband at home than by learning to beat him at billiards. Of course some men would be afraid to put a cue in their wives' hands but they are few."

Miss Anderson has traveled all over the United States and has had consistent success in defeating men amateurs in the cities she has visited.

CAMP FOR BOYS TO BE LAUNCHED

There will be a camp for boys established during August, according to A. J. Black, teacher at McKinley Junior High School, who is making plans for the outing.

Attempts to establish a camp for boys by the Kiwanis Club failed recently because of apparent lack of interest among youths of the city.

Mr. Black, however, believes that there are a number of boys who are anxious to take a camping trip but who neglected to take advantage of the original camp. He believes they will fall in line with the camp he proposes.

No location for the camp has been announced. The outing will be held in August, however, in plenty of time to permit the boys to be back home to prepare for the opening of school in September. Boys who wish to get information on the camp should see or call Mr. Black. He lives at 615 North Galloway street.

PLAY COMMENDABLY PRESENTED TUESDAY AT CHAUTAUQUA

Humor and pathos interwoven in the plot and admirably interpreted by Keighley's Broadway Players, combined to furnish a wholesome bit of stage entertainment in the presentation of "Turn to the Right," at the Chautauqua Tent Tuesday evening.

Characters selected to present the offering were well drawn and despite the handicap of limited stage settings and space, commendably portrayed the heart throbs of a widowed mother and her faith in her son, who had mysteriously disappeared.

The famous play woven around the plot of a youth who had been erroneously sent to prison; his subsequent release and determination to go straight; the impoverished mother and sister on the home farm, fighting a hopeless battle to make ends meet; the return of the prodigal in time to save through the assistance of two of his pals in prison, his mother's farm from the machinations of the village Shylock, was dramatically and humorously unfolded under the handling of the players.

Raymond Rawlings in the role of Joe Bascom, the lost son, played the leading part in expert fashion Mrs. Frank I. Frayne handled the difficult role of the sweet, unselfish mother, whose faith and determination reclaimed three lives, brought a tear to many eyes in her rendition of the part, Alton Lee, as Deacon Tillinger interpreted a difficult part in a commendable manner.

"Mugsy" and "Gilly" the two ex-convicts drew laughter by their skillful handling of ludicrous situations. Sam Martin, ambitious grocery clerk who through his initiative enables the owners of the fruit farm to market a crop of peaches regarded as a drug on the market, was favorably received. Betty Bascom, Jessie Strong, her friend, and Elsie Tillinger, daughter of the Deacon and the bevyhead sweetheart of Joe, contributed in no small measure to the successful presentation of the play.

A good sized audience witnessed the offering. W. P. Allen, manager of the Chautauqua announced prior to the performance that the local committee had gone considerably "over the top" in the financing of the institution here this year.

Another headline attraction of Tuesday's program was the lecture in the afternoon on "Home—The Heart of Life," by William Darius Campbell. The lecturer, an expert on interior decoration presented in addition to his talk a demonstration of how to do and how not to do, in decorating and arranging interiors.

Wednesday's program opened in the morning with a lecture "Purified Politics," by Ben A. Arneson, head of the department of political science at Ohio Wesleyan University. The Zeller Symphonic Quintet will feature the afternoon and evening performances. Hubert W. Hurt will lecture on "The New Industrial Day," Wednesday evening.

HAGAR COMPANY IS FINED WEDNESDAY—TO USE SAFEGUARD

The Hagar Straw Board and Paper Company, of Cedarville, was fined $500 and costs by Magistrate L. H. Whitman Wednesday morning on a specific charge of killing one fish in Massies Creek.

The affidavit was sworn to by Karl L. Keller, Xenia, Greene County Game Protector, alleging the company responsible for permitting poisonous waste matter from its mill to enter the stream, resulting in the death of many fish. Only one charge was preferred and others will pend.

Wilson W. Galloway, general manager of the company entered a formal plea of guilty to the charge Wednesday morning. He asked the court for reasonable time in which to make certain changes in the purification system now being used, according to specifications outlined and suggested by J. T. Travers, Columbus, state supervisor of streams, who was present at the hearing. Such an installation will eliminate trouble in the future, it is said.

"Mr. Galloway deprecates the situation that resulted in the death of the fish as much as the state or the citizens," said Mr. Travers. "The company is not altogether to blame for the results as they were caused by an employee, who did not realize the dangerous character of the water he released."

In handing down a decision, the court held the waterways are the natural channels of industries to carry away waste matter in a fluid state. According to Mr. Travers, the Cedarville company has hundreds of competitors over the state dumping waste matter into the streams of Ohio and making no effort to render it harmless. The Cedarville company, he said, had made strenuous efforts in the past to keep from polluting Massies Creek and has been the pioneer in the effort, there being only one other in the state.

Mr. Travers and Mr. Keller said it was not the object of the department to cripple the Cedarville industry, but that the department wanted to protect the fish, have pure water for the farmers' stock and at the same time not injure the factory. Mr. Galloway said that marl, recommended by Mr. Travers, to remove poison, is an effective purifier.

"Our attitude in this whole business has been to cooperate with everybody responsible to the best of our ability," said Mr. Galloway. "Our whole desire is not to pollute the stream. We have 75 men and their families depending on our organization, and we dumped about $350,000 into Greene County last year in addition to taxes and other expenses. Our company is now operating night and day and has been since March 1, 1922 and we have eight weeks' orders ahead."

No definite date for complete installation of the purifying system can be set, said Mr. Galloway and the state department and the court has allowed the company ample time to investigate different types of

The remedy in use at the plant for some time has been effective, it was said at the hearing, until the company increased its operations, turning out more waste water and not increasing the marl. As a result the waste matter was not properly treated, the state alleged, and it was left in a reservoir in order to let the poisonous sludge settle. The heat caused it to ferment instead, the state contended, throwing off poisonous gases that made it more harmful to fish when finally released.

Under the changes to be made, marl and lime will be used to treat the waste water in a series of tanks through which it will flow, while the sludge, which will be retrieved and is admirable for fertilizer, it is said. State department men say this system is positive protective, and that if the proper alkali ingredients are added according to the amount of water to be purified, that the sludge will be precipitated, the poison rendered harmless and the waste water will flow off unharmed to fish.

With the completion of the installation of this system, company officials are following the letter of the suggestions and recommendations of the state department and believe they will have, alleviated further dangers to fish in the stream.

Barbed Wire in War and Peace

Thousands of Persons are as Much Prisoners Today in Some Ways as Were These Hostages

THE term "barbed wire disease," vividly descriptive of a condition developed among prisoners of war, may well apply in time of peace. There are other barbed wires than those which enclosed 6,000,000 men in the prison camps during the course of the war. There are, at all times, moral and social barriers which do violence to the aspirations, the sanctities, the rights, of human life. And it is to be remembered that millions of men alive today carry in body and soul the deep marks of their prison-camp experiences.

For the most part these war prisoners were able-bodied fellows, in the prime of life, penned like the worst offenders against organized society, though they had committed no crime. To these men in the hour of their need America held out a helping hand.

It was a ghastly life. Every day the same thing over and over again, within a circle of fixed bayonets and hate; nothing to do, nowhere to go, pitifully little to eat, and that of poor quality, the same old faces day after day, and every one of them as sour as one's own; no chance to get away alone. Only when dead sick were you taken to a hospital. You had a cold, hard bunk or perhaps only a box-stall or a wet dug-out to sleep in. And all this month after month, perhaps year after year. Some fellows were good pals out in the open; but after they had been shut up awhile, they got impossible as companions.

HORRORS OF PRISON CAMPS ALLEVIATED

In many prison camps men sickened and died like flies. Far worse, many went insane. An observer found a group of officers who could not tell their own names. Some men got food packages from the folks at home but there were millions who never had anything to eat but soup and hard chunks of bread. A welfare worker wrote a report of a camp where he had seen over 600 men, not one weighing over 75 pounds, lying on their cots all day long because they were too exhausted physically and mentally to do anything else. It was not altogether the fault of those who ran the prison camps.

Life for the prisoner was made far easier through the welfare work. He was taught a trade, taught reading, writing and language, given athletic opportunity, got his package from home, his mail forwarded, and at Christmas his tree. Everyone was suspicious of every one else and popular opinion everywhere was against giving the prisoners a good time. Only gradually could representatives of neutral nations, such as Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and America, get a chance to ease the prisoners' lot. Through the American Ambassadors a great deal was done to investigate complaints and to improve camp conditions. They and their staffs worked night and day to get food to prisoners, to secure privileges, and to smooth out misunderstandings, that caused reprisals. When Ambassador Gerard secured an athletic field for the British prisoners at Ruhleben near Berlin he helped to save life. The Red Cross societies, and particularly the American Red Cross, supplied large quantities of food and medical supplies.

offered to all prisoners in all countries. "Barbed-wire disease" could be cured only by the patient himself, and all he needed was the chance. Just a little equipment was enough to change the tone of a whole camp. On a single football hundreds of men could kick out all their bad temper. Checkers and chessmen drew their minds away from their trouble. A single mouth-organ found its way into a grouchy group of working prisoners in England; they were soon dancing. Handicrafts gave endless employment—a box of tools was a life-saver. Through the agency of American Ambassadors and American civilian societies, books and magazines, microscopes and draughting materials, printing presses and artists' supplies, sporting goods and musical instruments were brought into the prison camps. Hymn books and religious literature vitalized the comforting ministry of religion. Razors, tooth-brushes and shoe-brushes, helped men sustain self-respect. In the midst of these horrors was worked out a crowning victory of the human spirit. Courageous prisoners, under the stimulus of need and friendly help, organized the camps and set up discipline, useful activities, and entertainment. There grew up in camp after camp the idea that the time spent in confinement need not be wasted. Educational classes were opened and, in spite of all the discouragements, men actually learned languages, arts, and sciences. The hardest experience was turned to good account. There were war heroes without number among prisoners of war. Through their civilian agencies America played a large part in mitigating the hardships of these caged men in a field where there was little or no other help. In service to all—regardless of color, creed, or nationality—the first steps were made in the achievement of true human brotherhood. This work still goes on in Germany where Russian prisoners from the old imperial army, unable to return to Bolshevik Russia, have organized a vocational school at Wunsdorf with the aid of the American Y. M. C. A. This same organization conducts a correspondence school for Russians. More than 4,000 ex-patriated students in 27 countries are studying, through this method, a score of practical and cultural courses.

THE END OF A CHAPTER.

The statement of Prime Minister Baldwin in the House of Commons Thursday marks the end of one phase in the wearying, baffling puzzle of German reparations and the Ruhr. It is a notice to all concerned that Great Britain has made up her mind to act alone if she finds it impossible to act in concert with her old friends and allies. London is ready to draft a reply to Berlin's last offer and hopes it will meet the approval of Paris, Brussels and Rome.

It is not a warning of the break-up of the Entente. That may come, but not yet. For the most part it is a plea for good will and for concord. It may or it may not be the final British plea for accord, the last British effort to find some common ground with France. Considering the veiled activities back of diplomatic screens during the past month, the Baldwin speech is more significant in what it fails to say than in what it says. It is colorless and undramatic, but there are sinister silences in it and strange blank spaces left to be filled by the speculations of Berlin and the imaginings of Paris.

In his partial statement of the British case, Mr. Baldwin points out that Germany must pay. To this every one but Germany must pay. To this every one but Germany is agreed. He does not say how much she can or should pay, nor does he offer any means of determining.

He insists that Germany must not be ruined. With this, except for France, there will be general and instant agreement. The Ruhr occupation, he contends, has reduced reparations and is about to cause a German collapse. This view will, of course, be challenged by Premier Poincare and most Frenchmen. Mr. Baldwin hopes for accord among the Allies. For that matter, so do Poincare, Theunis and Mussolini.

His most significant utterance, reserved to the last of his statement, is this:

So far as active action is possible, we shall continue to pursue it. We shall confidently invite the sympathetic consideration of the whole of our Allies and all the interested states to proposals which will have no other aim than the pacification of Europe and the recovery of an exhausted world.

Until these proposals are offered and given due consideration by the Allies, the interested states and the world, there can be no verdict on the British attitude.

What Britain's Prime Minister has done is to make a start toward closing a chapter, ending a phase and breaking a deadlock. Another deadlock, equally stubborn, may follow, since France is in no mood for yielding. What the next phase may be Baldwin of London does not know, nor does Poincare of Paris or Cuno of Berlin. When a log jam breaks no man may say whether it will run free to open water or form again on hidden rocks.—Public Ledger.

CARDINAL WARNS GERMANS TO STOP BEGGING OF AMERICA.

Cardinal Faulhaber, Berlin, has issued a warning through the Catholic Press that the flood of begging letters being addressed to Americans by Germans, is damaging the willingness of Americans to contribute to organized relief work. It seems there are persons in Europe, he said, who from early morning until late at night do nothing but write letters to America. He cited the case of a woman who wrote 11,000 letters and complained that she received but 300 replies. Another woman sent and received so much mail that the police investigated and found her busily copying a form letter which made the unfounded plea that she had pawned her wedding ring to get postage for the letter which she hoped would bring her relief since she had but seven potatoes left which would last only seven days more.

Cardinal Faulhaber, who recently returned from America, reminded the public that many contributions from the United States were from wage-earners who made sacrifices in order to give and urged that nothing be done to increase America's feeling that she is fed up with Europe.

FRENCH SENATE RATIFIES NAVAL LIMITATION PACT.

The French Parliament completed ratification of the Washington Naval Limitation Treaty and the Four-Power Pacific Accord by overwhelming votes in the Senate last week. The naval limitation treaty was ratified without reservation and with but three dissenting votes, while the Pacific accord was approved immediately after, unanimously and without debate.

The vote was passed largely by proxy, as the stifling heat kept most of the Senators away. The French objections to any restriction were voiced, but the trend of the discussion was that France was financially unable to build even up to the limit of the capital ship program during the life of the Washington agreement, and the opposition was mainly sentimental. Speakers insisted, however, that it must be definitely understood that the treaty did not restrict the building of lighter craft and submarines on which the French expect to spend most of their naval appropriations.

Premier Poincare made only one observation. He reminded the Senate that the treaty applied exclusively to capital ships, as the French viewpoint had carried the day at Washington with regard to the smaller vessels and submarines. Minister of Marine Raiberti made a straightforward statement of the Government's belief that the treaty permitted all the naval construction financially possible for France.

WHAT WILL BECOME OF THE SURPLUS?

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

Messrs. Charles Greenleaf and Charles Weaver, who have been taking in all the points of interest in New York City and vicinity, arrived home last night. They are browned by the sun and evidently had a splendid outing. Xenians last night had a little taste of the tornado which swept Illinois last evening. There was no damage, however, except to a few trees.

A strange meeting occurred at the O. S. and S. O. Home last Friday, during the reunion, when two brothers met on the grounds after a separation of a number of years. Pope Leo has sunk into his last repose. The whole Christian world will mourn over the demise of the Pope, because of his simple life and love for all mankind, irrespective of creed.

To make delicious old-fashioned "Frozen Custard" ice cream, two cups of milk to four cups of thin cream must be used. To obtain this thin cream many housekeepers buy a 35-cent bottle (one gill) of heavy cream and thin this with milk so as to make four cups of "thin cream" of it. Put these four cups of thin cream on the ice to add later, after you have made and cooled the boiled custard.

TO MAKE THE CUSTARD: Heat two cups of ordinary sweet milk in the top of your double boiler; when it is scalded, pour it at once over two egg yolks which you have previously beaten with a pinch of salt and one cup of granulated sugar.

Return this mixture to the top of the double boiler, and cook over boiling water, stirring constantly. When it will "coat a spoon" (that is, cling to a spoon quite thickly) set the boiler-top on a bowl of cold water at once. If it is allowed to cook a minute or so longer it is apt to curdle. Let cool, and when cold add to it the four cups of thin cream which you previously put on the ice, and also add three teaspoons of vanilla extract. Freeze as follows: Make sure the freezer-can is clean. Pour the ice cream mixture into it, place on the cover, fit the cross-piece (with handle) into cover, and stand freezer-can in its wooden pail (I assume that you are using the customary eight minute ice cream freezer.) Now chip up enough ice to fill a quart measure three times, heaping it up well each time. Put this ice into a dishpan and add to it one quart of rock salt. Mix well, and turn this salt-and-ice mixture into the freezer pail around the closed can.

Pack down well. The ice need rise no further than the icecream liquid rises inside the freezer can. (The above recipe will fill the freezer-can full, therefore the ice and salt need not come to the top of the pail—it must simply rise more than half

BILL
Bill was a fisherman. He'd sit and wait for them.
Knew where they were and he knew how to bait for them.
He'd get up early and he'd stay out late for them.
Bill knew the places and just where to go for them.
Others gave up when the fishing seemed slow for them.
Bill wanted fish and was willing to row for them.
Hour after hour he would work with his lure for them.
Studied their habits to make angling sure for them.
The long tedious hours he was glad to endure for them.
Bill could catch fish when the most of us couldn't.

He'd get a string when the signs said he shouldn't.
But Bill would go out when the rest of us wouldn't.
Any old fool can catch fish when they're biting.
When they are hungry all bait is inviting.
But it takes work when the east wind you're fighting.
Boy, here's the test of you, there's no denying.
How do you tell when the storm flags are flying?
Any poor salesman can sell when they're buying.
Boy, when they tell you it's no use to go for them.
East is the wind and you haven't a show for them.
Do you tie up your boat—or get out there and row for them?

Today's Talk

TO ONE WHO HAS LOST

I know a little how you must feel. Like walking through a world with a mother just gone. Or like going back into battle with the beloved leader missing.
But it is only when we are stripped of all that we once felt was ours forever, that we come to appreciate the worth of unselfish service rendered outside of ourselves.
Remember this—you have yourself now! You may do with it whatso-ever you please. Before, you had the gifts of others—and they melted before the blazing sun of loss and disappointment as dew does under a summer sun.
But no one may remove that living personality—that you of yours—from this moving world except this same self of yours.
How much alone you are, how dependent and frail—yet how exceedingly strong you are! Now what you do and become shall indeed be what you most desire. And every day you shall win royally and your happiness shall be sweeter than the purest honey that the bees go out to gather.

One of the virtues of greatness is not to be afraid to start all over again.
What you earn will be so honestly yours. How many tired nights will come to you—but each one will be met with a smile from your heart.
There are many roads ahead. None are smooth. Most of them are good roads leading to a happy destination. Choose one. And then clear it and make it your very own.
And be happy over the fact that others will follow and pass over the way that your toil and heartaches have made possible and passible.
Some day you will learn that you didn't lost at all—but that you gained.

LAW RAISING AGE LIMIT FOR GIRLS EFFECTIVE JULY 18

Girls under 21 years of age will have to have consent of their parents or guardians in obtaining marriage licenses from now.

The new state law putting girls on the same basis as men in regard to reaching the age of discretion became effective at midnight Tuesday. A cross mark on the calendar in Probate Court is a reminder to officials that Wednesday marks the beginning of the time when the age limit for girls is raised.

"Girls under 21 years of age applying for licenses without being accompanied by parents today will have to give assurance that the licenses will be made use of before Wednesday or they will be void," Deputy Probate Judge S. C. Wright said Tuesday.

While it has been necessary for men to have consent of parents or guardians up to the age of 21 in obtaining licenses, women have been supposed to reach the age of discretion at 18 and could marry after that age without consent.

The law effective Tuesday night and enforced for the first time Wednesday, fixes 21 as the age limit for both men and women. Girls under 21 must bring their parents or guardians with them the same as men in applying for licenses after Wednesday.

Girls who have reached the age of 18, or years of discretion, prior to Wednesday enjoyed their maturity only temporarily for they dropped back into the infant classification when this law became effective.

"WAIT A MINUTE" Irritates Many People

DOES your office girl sometimes "get Brown on the line" and then ask him to "wait a minute" while she calls you to talk to him?

Did you ever stop to consider that Brown may not like this very well? He may think that you are imposing on him.

Of all bad telephone habits the one most universally condemned by business men is the "wait a minute" habit. It is a habit that not only causes loss of time and business friendship, but often turns away profitable trade.

When you start a call, the courteous, business-like thing to do is to remain at your telephone and be ready to talk.

When you receive a call do as you want people to do when you call—answer promptly.

FAIR OPENING IS ONLY TWO WEEKS AWAY—WORK BEGUN

With the opening day of the Greene County Fair only two weeks away, the Fair Board is busy arranging the details for what it is believed will be the largest Fair Greene County has ever had. The various departments are offering highly attractive premiums and provision is being made for caring for the largest number of exhibits ever handled on the grounds.

Announcement that the dining hall will be in charge of the local W. C. T. U. means that Fair patrons will be able to get the finest of meals right on the grounds every day of the Fair. It assures an attractively arranged dining hall with delicious home cooking.

The cattle department in charge of Mr. W. B. Harner is offering premiums that should bring herds from all over the state. A new cattle shed has been built and is ready for use. The sheep department with Mr. Walter St. John in charge has made several improvements in the sheep sheds and will be able to take care of this department in better shape than ever before.

J. H. Lackey, who is in charge of the swine department has been using the state classification for the 14-year and the result will be a great improvement in the hog show. Four special shows have been added with the last few years and this year two more will be placed. There will be a Poland China Breed Promotion Pig Show with a premium of $100.00 given by Fair Board and the Poland China Association, also a Poland China Pig Club project show, confined to Greene County, with total premiums of $50.00 given by the Poland China Association and the Greene County Poland China Association. The Duroc and spotted China Association has taken advantage of the Fair Board's offer to meet them on a $50.00 premium provided they raise a like amount. This will make the Duroc breed prominent in the coming Fair.

The new law which makes it necessary for all foreign concessionaires to have a state license so that any crooked work can be immediately reported to the State, will go far toward cleaning up the Fairs of the state by shutting out crooks and gamblers, it is believed. The local Fair Board is making a united effort to have the coming fair clear of all gambling and other undesirable features and give the people instead a group of interesting attractive shows that will make the "Midway" an entertaining feature.

Horace and his mother go to Europe. Horace grieves, returns and hears of Natalie through Harper. He searches until he finds her and pleads with her to return to him.

Chapter 49

NATALIE'S MOOD Baffles HORACE

For a space both Horace and Natalie fell silent. He had exhausted his entreaties; all he could do was to reiterate them. And Natalie cold, aloof, sat with her eyes fixed on the floor, her hands working nervously in her lap.
"Natalie is there any one else?" Horace finally asked in desperation.
"What do you mean—anyone else?"
"What do you mean?"
Even the question was apathetic, the mood of the morning still upon the girl.
"Have you given your love to another? Is that why you are so unresponsive?"
Natalie started, shocked. The blood rushed into her cheeks and lips and drained away leaving her deathlike. After a moment she said:
"There never was anybody but you."
In a moment she was in Horace's arms. He was kissing her, calling her all the endearing names that came to him, holding her close. She opened her lips to speak, but with tender kisses he closed them.
"Dearest," he said, "you have forgiven me. You do love me tell me so."
"I love you, yes. That's what has made it so hard," Natalie said, drawing away. "Let me go, please. I am stupid I can't think—so."

"I don't want you to think, dear," Horace replied, releasing her. "I will think for you. I have been living for this hour, when I should find you, win your forgiveness and take you home. Oh, my poor dear! I never can forgive myself."

The sound of a baby's wailing reached them.

"Please go now, Horace. I must help Etta."

"No, I am not going—back there. We'll travel a while first. You are ill, worn out, I'll—"

"I shall never go back."

"Why, Natalie—I don't—understand. You say you love me, that there is no one else. Do you think I shall let you go now that I have found you?"

"You must."

Horace looked at his wife in amazement. From the moment she had told him there was no one else he had no slightest doubt that she would return to him. He had found her. She was his.

"There is no use talking any longer, Horace. There is only one way I should ever consent to come back to you—and that way is not possible—to you." Natalie spoke slowly as if weighing each word. Her heart was crying out for him, his kisses. His tender words had called forth all her longing for him, yet she would not surrender.

"Will you take an apartment, a house, make me mistress, live alone with me—as Clyde and Etta live, letting your mother live where she will? I thought not," as she watched his face. "I told you it was impossible for me to come back to you."

Horace's promise to his mother! He had sworn never to leave her, to live with her as long as she lived. She would not release him, that he knew. And now he also sensed the strength of Natalie's will. She had suffered cruelly, was poor, worn out with the struggle; yet she was determined to accept nothing from him—be nothing to him unless he broke his promise.

"Harder than it has been made for me?" she asked.

"Natalie, will you make me a promise?" Horace asked, almost beside himself. "Will you stay here with Etta? Let me pay her for taking care of you until I can hear from mother. She must release me from my promise. I am sure she will when she understands."

A wild laugh broke from Natalie's lips.

"Go try if you want to, but she will never release you; never give you back to a misfit. I'll give you time to cable and get your answer, a week. In a week—now go!" the girl said fiercely.

Horace bent over, kissed her, then sought Etta, and pressing a roll of bills into her hand, told her Natalie had promised to remain with her for a week. At the end of the week he would come again.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Xenia woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Xenia experience:
Mrs. Woodrow C. Warner, 225 E. Third St., says: "Several years ago I was in misery with pains that seized me through my back. When I stooped to dust I got such terrible sharp stabs of pain through the small of my back I could hardly move at times. Mornings my back ached, shoulders felt as stiff as a board. I was tired and weak and became dizzy. I also had severe nervous spells. My kidneys were irregular in action and caused me considerable annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills were highly recommended to me so I got some. Several boxes relieved me of the trouble; the pains in my back left and my kidneys became normal."
